

I work with the development, maintenance and hosting of Internet domains, websites, Google Apps, etc., and help with multi-site offices, inter-networking and with online "cloud" support, including VPN and user/office mobility implementation. I work with seamless inter-connectivity between various systems and system types, making contacts, calendars, tasks, notes, and files storage, to name a few, synchronized and available, across the span of cyberspace that we call "the cloud". I help develop online personality, a "web presence" with good profiles, headshots, bios, and even bitmoji's ... I get you "out there"!

I specialize in contacts management, email custom e-signatures, and interconnectivity between your laptop, smartphone, smartwatch, and your devices!

I am a writer, an IT virtual systems and networking engineer, a developer and problem solver, focused on finding the answers to problems, and implementing solutions, for those who work ... on the GRID! You can definitely say, "I work in the clouds!"
